Teach-In on Mass Incarceration
On March 29th from 5:30-7pm in Nunemaker Auditorium.

All Oppression Shall Cease.
On March 14th from 5-7pm in the Audubon Room. This event is open to the Loyola community.

On March 8th at 7pm in the Audubon Room. This event is open to the Loyola community.

Filmmaker Sara Gozalo, and her armor, documentary filmmaker, will be joined by Loyola College of Law Professor and panel moderators and will be available details about Loyola's Lenten Chapel or on Zoom. More about this form of forced labor/human trafficking in Louisiana prisons. This event is open to the Loyola community.

On March 13th at 12:30pm at JSRI (Mercy Hall Room 306). Also, Mr. Moore can share his experience with our Loyola community in 2023.

This August marks the 60th anniversary of the March on Washington, next summer in the 60th anniversary of Freedom Summer—events which fundamentally changed our country's political landscape. For the Loyola community to be involved as the civil rights movement, and accompany us as we develop the blueprint for racial justice for the next 60 years.

We invite you to be a part of that legacy. Please reach out with ideas of how Mr. Moore can share his experience with our Loyola community in 2023. More information on this topic can be found here. Mr. Moore is living history and he is with us this year to reflect on his legacy and accompany us as we develop the blueprint for racial justice for the next 60 years.

This email was sent to jsri@loyno.edu of all Loyola e-newsletters. If you would like to stop receiving our e-newsletters, please click here.